I tried numerous remedies, none of which did me any good, until I was induced to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The first bottle of it so far relieved me that I was enabled to get to work, and the second bottle effected a cure." For sale at 25 and 50 cents per bottle by J. W. Wood, Druggist.

FIRE CHIEF A. H. RUNGE.

His Restored Health Was Due to Paine's Celery Compound.

The position of Chief of Fire Department in a big city like Minneapolis, with its acres of valuable building property, crossed by numerous railroad lines and dotted with factories where the fires are never "banned," is one of the utmost responsibility, and can be entrusted only to a man of unquestioned character and ability.

August H. Runge, who has filled this responsible position for several years with so much credit to himself and to the city, was born in New York in 1852, where he received a common school education.

What such a man as this has to say can scarcely fail to carry weight with it. "With the hope that what I say may in some way be brought to the attention of others who, like myself, have suffered through any apparent cause, I feel constrained to recite a brief tale regarding an experience which I trust may never be repeated in my case.

"A few months ago, owing doubtless to the exacting nature of my duties as head of the Fire Department, I began to feel a sort of languor and listlessness, to disquiet which I was compelled to bring into play all the strength of will I could command. The feeling grew upon me, however, and in a short time it took such possession of me that it affected my appetite and caused insomnia. I approached my meals with a feeling amounting almost to nausea, and my bed with horror at the restless night which I was almost certain was before me. Matters became so serious with me that I could no longer keep silent about myself, and speaking of it to one of my friends one day, he suggested that I try Paine's Celery Compound. I purchased a bottle and before I had taken a dozen doses I knew that the suggestion was a good one. I felt an improvement. I continued to use it, and felt restored. My appetite was good, and I slept well, and instead of an irksome grind my business is again a pleasure to me. I attribute this happy state of affairs to Paine's Celery Compound."

FLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIQAM!

NEWLY NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The Goldenrod is now on her way down the river.

The Sherley passed up last night for Pomeroy.

At Parkersburg the river is closed for a mile and badly gorged.

All the big towboats from Pittsburgh to New Orleans are now past Memphis.

New and Kanawha rivers are again rising. The Ohio continues to fall at all points. There is but 7 feet here, and boatsmen are becoming worried lest a cold snap should ensue and close the stream completely. There is very little ice running past here at present.

The River and Harbor Committee of Congress has accepted an invitation of Hon. John L. Vance, President of the Ohio River Improvement Association, to visit the great stream and see for themselves its needs and requirements. The new and elegant steamer Virginia will be placed at their disposal and the trip will begin at Pittsburgh.

Miss Bertha Ott entertained a number of her young friends at her home on Second street last evening. Gaming and other amusements were indulged in during the evening, and a most delightful time was had by all those present.

The sick man knocking at the door of health gets it by drinking the right way, and not out if he doesn't. There are thousands of ways of getting sick but only one way to get well. Do not let your blood get impure, your digestion in good order, and make your blood rich and pure, you will not get well. Pure blood is the only thing that can bring perfect health. Constipation is a disease of the blood. A large part of all diseases are traceable to impurities in the blood, and can be cured by eliminating them from the system. The Golden Medical Discovery. The first thing it does to put the whole digestive system into perfect order. It stimulates the appetite, excites a copious secretion of the digestive fluids and promotes assimilation. It reaches out wherever you are, and it may be, kills them and forces them out of the system. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has been used with unvarying success for over 25 years.

January and May. HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Jan. 18.—J. C. Yancy and Miss Nannie Marlowe were married in the City of Hopkinsville, Ky., Friday afternoon, Jan. 17, 1896. The groom is 75 years old and the bride 30 years old.

GREENUP, Ky., Jan. 18.—James Chapman, while digging a well, fell to the bottom of the well and sustained serious injuries. He was killed in a coal bank here about two months ago.

PRINCETON JAIL. Surrounded by a Guard—Whitescap Arrests Have Arrested the Country. PRINCETON, Ky., Jan. 18.—Excitement over the Whitescap arrests here is worked up to fever heat. Twenty-seven arrests have been made and the men are now in jail. Murders against the authorities are loud and numerous, and groups of excited men meet in the street and angrily discuss the situation. So threatening have these meetings become that it is feared an attempt will be made to storm the jail, take the prisoners and inflict summary punishment. The building is now surrounded by a special guard. The arrests were made on information given by a man who was driven out of this section by the "regulators." He, it seems, communicated with the Whitescap, who assured him of protection if he would return and prosecute those he knew to be engaged in the affair. Several persons have been called out at night and whipped, and two have been shot. The entire population is aroused, and the citizens insist that they will back the officers against the friends of the prisoners. Serious trouble is feared.

Burglars at Versailles. VERSAILLES, Ky., Jan. 18.—After breaking into Young & Williams' machine shop and stealing a set of tools, burglars early Friday morning effected an entrance into the Louisville Southern passenger depot and cracked the large double doors safe. Fortunately, Agent Mullane had made a big deposit in the bank Thursday of the railroad company's funds, and the visitors were rewarded for their trouble with a big haul. They also stole of the depot hand car and made their escape toward Louisville.

WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

THE Secretary of the Navy has sent to the Senate a letter, in which he says to equip with guns and machinery and put in first class condition for purposes of harbor defense all monitors now in commission or undergoing repairs, would cost $1,580,000.

THE true condition of Kentucky's

Treasury is now known. Thirty years of "King Rule" by the Democracy at

it empty—left it absolutely bankrupt.

Kentucky's

Empty Treasury.

And in all this time

taxation has been increased while no public improvements have been made—save and except the perpetration of that disgraceful "job," the Branch Penitentary at Edyville.

All along the Democratic papers have asserted that Kentucky was in splendid financial condition—with money to burn.

But now come the hard facts; and here they are as stated by Treasurer LONG in an interview:

When he assumed the office of Treasurer, the following amounts were in the Treasury:

To the credit of the General

Expenditure Fund.....$ 169.78

To credit of Sinking Fund.....113,653.94

To credit of State.....30,850.00

Total.....$153,734.88

The Sinking Fund is not available for current expenses, being set apart by the Constitution for the payment of the interest and principal of the public debt.

There was due the schoolteachers of the state at the date indicated $414,000, leaving, after deducting the amount on hand at that fund, a deficit in the School

Fund of something over $374,000.

The per capita allowance made to split children last summer was in excess of the amount due the School Fund for this fiscal year, and nearly $200,000 will have to be drawn from next year's fund to complete payment of this year's claims. It will be seen, therefore, that the teachers cannot hope to receive the balance due them until after the banks have paid their taxes in July. They have been fully compensated for this delay by reason of the over payment made them for this year's work.

In the General Expenditure Fund a worst condition confronts us. The fiscal year begins July 1st and closes June 30th. The revenues for the entire fiscal year, with the exception of about $6,000 from the Sheriffs, $250,000 from the railroads, and probably $200,000 from other sources, had to be paid from time to time by clerks and others,—had been paid. There was on hand $109.78 to pay accrued obligations and the State Government until June 30th, 1906.

There were outstanding unpaid warrants aggregating about $383,000; claims on file for which no warrants had been issued, $228,000; due to the asylums for former appropriations, $176,000; due schoolteachers above funds on hand,

$374,000. Besides these there were various sums due to the penitentiaries, officers, etc., which would in all probability raise the deficit on the 6th of January to $1,250,000. In addition to this amount then due we had about six months of the fiscal year to run before the revenues of next fiscal year are available.

The average cost of running the state is over $300,000 a month. So that in addition to the above deficit we must provide for the running expenses of the state for the last half of the year 1905 and '06. This at the average would amount to $1,800,000. Deduct the probable amount to be collected from railroad, clerks, etc., and we find an additional shortage of $1,800,000 by the end of this fiscal year. It is, therefore, clear that it would require at least $2,000,000

SUICIDE.

SOME PECULIAR METHODS OF COMMITTING IT.

Causes That Lead to It.

Some cases of suicide are brutal and disgusting. Their details fill us with horror. Others appeal to our pity and sympathy, both for their reason and result. What more pathetic than Tom Hood's lines:

"Take her up tenderly—
Lift her with care!
Fashioned so slenderly—
Young and so fair!"

"Look at her garments
Clinging like cements,
Whilst she weeps constantly
Drips from her clothing;
Take her up instantly,
Loving, not loathing."

"Cross her hands humbly,
As if praying dumbly,
Over her breast."

"Owning her weakness,
Her evil behavior,
And leaving with meekness
Her sins to her Savior."

There is suicide by knife, by pistol, by hanging, by drowning, by jumping, by escaping gas, by burning charcoal, by the various poisons, as morphine, strychnine, arsenic, prussic acid and various other drugs.

But there is a still more common and more important form of suicide.

It is suicide by ignorance or neglect.

A man or woman can as easily and as certainly commit suicide by failing to lift out of the body the poisons and impurities that collect in it.

They are forming every minute and every second of your life—by day and by night.

Every time your brain thinks, your hand moves, your heart beats, your lungs breathe, or of their substance breaks down into waste material.

This waste material is poisonous, and nature intends its removal as fast as it is made.

This is the work your kidneys have to do.

If they are weak, sluggish, inactive or diseased they do not do it.

Persons that should be promptly thrown out then collect in the system and do poison every organ.

Perfect kidneys mean perfect filtering of ALL poisons out of the blood.

Pure blood and perfect health are synonymous. Dr. Hobb's Sprague Kidney Pills heal, soothe and strengthen the kidneys and set them to doing their work actively and properly.

They contain the healing tonic and diuretic principle of the root, stalk and berry of the asparagus.

Are you committing suicide carelessly, ignorantly or unwittingly by neglecting your kidneys?

Use Dr. Hobb's Sprague Kidney Pills and be on the safe side.

THE PRAYER

Of the Chaplain in the House Followed by Applause.

He Prays for the Cubans Who Are Struggling for Wider Liberty.

A Message From the President in regard to Railway Land Grants—After Five Days' Discussion the President's Appropriation Bill Passed the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Applause following the delivery of a prayer in the house is an unusual, probably unprecedented, incident in its proceedings, but when Chaplain Couden Friday offered the following invocation:

"Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the degree of special liberty which we pray for them all that it can without compromising its dignity or in disregard of its sacred obligations and duties to other nations."

There was a lively outbreak of hand-clapping all over the floor.

A message from the president was laid before the house, asking prompt legislation to further extend the time by which legislation in relation to the forfeiture of railroad land grants may be prosecuted by the attorney general. It was read and referred to the committee on public lands.

The house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Dingley (rep. Me.) in the chair, on motion of Mr. W. A. Steiwer (rep. Pa.) to consider the general pension appropriation bill under the five-minute rule.

Mr. Steele (rep. Ind.) offered an amendment providing that the regulations made in the pension bureau for the consideration of pension claims shall be public and not contravene the laws of the United States nor the rules of evidence recognized by the courts in the trial of civil and criminal cases.

TASTE IN ANIMALS.

Some Insects and Reptiles in Which the Organ is Lacking.

Many experiments have been made in order to find out what and where the organ of taste is in the lower creation, but it is easier to say where it is not, than to say where it is. It is not, as a writer in the Golden Days, Crawfish and worms seem to have very decided preferences in the matter of food, though no special taste organ has yet been found in either. The goldfish, on the other hand, is a creature of no taste. The crab is more dainty in its diet. Snails and slugs show a decided preference for certain kinds of food, garden lovers know to their cost. Peas and cabbages, dahlias and sunflowers are great favorites, but they will not touch of them, unless the snail. Some prefer animal food, especially if rather high. Spiders have only a slight sense of taste; they soaked in paraffine before they ate it. The spider, however, is quite palatable to them, though one species, the diademata, is somewhat more particular, and refuses to touch alcohol in any form whatever.

The tentacles of insects do not appear to contain any organ of taste, for wasps and ants quite readily took into their mouths poisonous and unpleasant food, even swallowing enough to make themselves ill, while some bees, and roaches feel a prey to the temptation of food. Upon salts, and other chemical foods placed in their way. These creatures were not, however, swallowed, but were soon spat out, the creatures spitting angrily, as if disgusted with the taste.

The proboscis of the fly and the tongue of bees and ants are furnished with numerous delicate hairs set in minute pits. These are perhaps connected with the organ of taste, but, though the exact locality of this sense in insects is uncertain, we know that groups of cells in the tongue of animals, called taste buds, form in part the ends of the organ of taste. These vary in number, increasing in the higher animals. They are very close and exceedingly numerous in man, while the cow has some thirty-five thousand taste buds.

It would be interesting to know, but I have never seen the question discussed, whether each special taste excites a special group of nerves, and that only—thus corresponding to the auditory nerves.

These taste buds were discovered in 1807. One consists of two kinds of cells—one set forming an outer protective covering, through an opening in which project from five to ten of the true taste cells. Though important, they are not apparently an essential part of the organ, for birds and reptiles have none, but neither have they a keen sense of taste—except, perhaps, the parrot.

A boar constrictor that was nearly blind was once found to be contentedly swallowing a blanket for dinner. Instead of a blanket, which was within reach; and it was only with great difficulty that she was forced to disgorge this disgusting article. The snake's tongue is, therefore, not an organ of taste, nor is it, as many think, a sting. It is more probably a delicate organ of touch.

BOTHERSOME BORES.

Two of Them Who Were Very Properly Rebuked.

In a recent lecture on "bores" Rev. Dean Hoar, an English clergyman, declared that the industrious agriculturist was one of the victims of bores, and anyone who, though these troublesome persons are commonly supposed to pertain to a more artificial grade of society, and the agriculturist, at least the recourse, which is seldom resorted to in the grade of society which is pleased to call itself "polite," of telling the bores what he thinks of him, says the Youth's Companion.

Dean Hoar related that an industrious farmer was visited one day by an idle and careless neighbor who talked and talked, and wasted a whole afternoon.

When at last the idle farmer was about to depart, the industrious farmer said to him:

"Go! through the town?"

"Yes."

"Know the cooper's shop?"

"Yes—just that makes barrels."

"Well, just follow that make a couple of hoops and your wheelbarrow, or your barrel with self-importance."

"The professional humorist" is also well known for his wit. He once said to a man as the elder Mr. Grossmith, inquired of a certain very tedious person as to the state of his health.

"Between three and four o'clock this morning," sighed the bore, "I was at death's door."

"At death's door?" exclaimed Grossmith. "Oh, why didn't you go in?"

Notice Preserved by Choke-Damp.

A curious story, illustrating the preservative properties of choke-damp, comes from China. In the province of Anhui a party of miners recently struck an ancient shaft where history recorded that a great catastrophe occurred four hundred years ago. The miners on opening this shaft, came upon the bodies of one hundred and twenty bodies of the former workers lying where they had been overcome with four gas four centuries before.

Corpses were, as if life had left them yesterday, quite fresh looking, and not decayed in any way.

On an attempt being made to move them outside for burial they crumbled away, leaving nothing but a pile of dust and the remains of the stronger part of their clothing. The miners, terrified, fled from the spot, and though there were valuable deposits of coal in the shaft, they were not induced to superintend men to return to their work.

Force Developed by Bicycles.

A French experimenter has determined the force developed by bicyclists in races. Windle and Zimmerman expended for six seconds a force equal to that of a horse, and a one-quarter horse power and developed two-thirds horse power for two minutes at a time. It is also found that a runner works three times as hard as a cyclist at moderate speed, but that his speed increases, his labors become more nearly equal.
